SECTION A

A1-A4 - CURRENT CAMPAIGN AND POLITICS

A1.
Some people don't pay much attention to political campaigns. How about you? Would you say that you were very much interested, somewhat interested, or not much interested in following the political campaigns this year?

⇒ Respondents may have difficulty deciding whether they "discuss politics". If asked what we mean by "discuss," say "whatever it means to you." We want to know if they think they discuss politics, whether they have in mind a lengthy debate over candidate stands on policy, or briefly mention the scandals of politicians.

A3a.
(IF YES)

How many days in the past week did you talk about politics with family or friends?

Do you happen to remember the names of the candidates for Congress -- that is, for the House of Representatives in Washington -- who ran in the November election from this district?

1 YES, REMEMBER

5 NO, DON'T REMEMBER -->SKIP TO B1

8 DK -->SKIP TO B1

⇒ Please record as accurately and legibly as possible the names supplied by the R. Accept any name R gives you. Some R's may mention a senatorial candidate here---accept it without comment.

⇒ This question measures the respondent's ability to recall: a) the actual number of candidates in the race, b) their names, and c) their party affiliation.

⇒ If the respondent says something like, "I don't remember the name of the candidate, but he is a Democrat," write DK on the line reserved for the name, and indicate the party, in this case DEM, by marking the appropriate box. If R gives no indication of remembering the name or party of candidate at first mention, don't probe for second mention; go on.

V001219

As you know, the political parties try to talk to as many people as they can to get them to vote for their candidate. Did anyone from one of the political parties call you up or come around and talk to you about the campaign this year?

1 YES
5 NO --SKIP TO B1b
8 DK --SKIP TO B1b

⇒ B1-B12 are items about R's participation in this year's campaign, not activities the respondent has performed in the past. 1 YES
5 NO
8 DK

⇒ We are interested here in whether R has been sufficiently impressed (or unimpressed) by a party or candidate to try to convince others that they should vote for (or against) the party or candidate. If R says he/she has tried to convince others simply to vote, but not for or against a candidate or a party, the answer to this question is "NO."

Did you vote for a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives?

1 YES, VOTED FOR HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES -->C9b
5 NO, DIDN'T VOTE FOR HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES -->C13a
8 DK -->C13a

⇒ The Ballot Card is used to gather data on how R's voted in the various races. (Until 1978, Election Studies asked R's to recall who they voted for without a "visual cue"). The Ballot Card should not be presented to the respondent until you reach this question. This is most important--be certain that the card is not in R's sight before this time, as the information on it could alter R's responses to earlier questions, particularly the one requiring R to recall candidates rather than to simply recognize candidate

Spec: 199__

⇒ A second important point to make is that it is vital that the Ballot Card be the correct card for the R's congressional district.

⇒ Note that, when asking this, R may also say that the race for the U.S. House of Representatives in which he/she voted is not the one described on the Ballot Card. This could be true because R may have gone to vote in the congressional district where he/she recently lived, as most states allow. Since this district could be different from the one in which R now resides, the House race on the Ballot Card may, indeed, be the wrong one. If this is the case, use the OTHER (specify) category to enter R's answer and statement about this. This is also the one you should choose if the respondent says he/she voted for a "write-in" candidate.

⇒ NOTE: It sometimes happens, particularly in big cities, that R voted for different candidates—because we have misidentified the CD to which a segment belongs. Be sensitive to this possibility, and if you have suspicion that such might be the case, call your supervisor before you do another interview in that segment.

⇒ C11b: Note that, when asking this, R may say that the race for the U.S. House in which he/she voted is not the one mentioned. This could be true because R may have gone to vote in the congressional district where he/she recently lived, as most states allow. Since this district could be different from the one in which R now resides, the preloaded names for the House race may, indeed, be wrong. If this is the case, use the OTHER (specify) category to enter R's answer and statement about this. This is also the one you should choose if the respondent says he/she voted for a "write-in" candidate.

⇒ NOTE: It sometimes happens, particularly in big cities, that R voted for different candidates—because we have misidentified the CD to which a segment belongs. Be sensitive to this possibility, and if you have suspicion that such might be the case, call your supervisor before you do another interview in that segment.

I'd like to get your feelings toward some of our political leaders and other people who are in the news these days. I'll read the name of a person and I'd like you to rate that person using something we call the feeling thermometer. Ratings between 50 degrees and 100 degrees mean that you feel favorable and warm toward the person. Ratings between 0 degrees and 50 degrees mean that you don't feel favorable toward the person and that you don't care too much for that person. You would rate the person at the 50 degree mark if you don't feel particularly warm or cold toward the person. If we come to a person whose name you don't recognize, you don't need to rate that person. Just tell me and we'll move on to the next one.

PROBE FOR DON'T KNOW RESPONSE: When you say "don't know" do you mean that you don't know who the person is or do you have something else in mind?

T D1.T

I'd like to get your feelings toward some of our political leaders and other people who are in the news these days. I'll read the name of a person and I'd like you to rate that person using something we call the feeling thermometer. The feeling thermometer can rate people from 0 to 100 degrees.

Ratings between 50 degrees and 100 degrees mean that you feel favorable and warm toward the person.

Ratings between 0 degrees and 50 degrees mean that you don't feel favorable toward the person. Rating the person at the midpoint, the 50 degree mark, means you don't feel particularly warm or cold toward the person. If we come to a person whose name you don't recognize, you don't need to rate that person. Just tell me and we'll move on to the next one.

Our first person is Bill Clinton. Where on that feeling thermometer would you rate Bill Clinton? /

The next person is ^. (Where on that feeling thermometer would you rate him/her?)

PROBE FOR DON'T KNOW RESPONSE: When you say "don't know" do you mean that you don't know who the person is or do you have something else in mind?

⇒ In this study we are using the feeling thermometer to measure R's feeling toward important political figures. The list of political figures includes the Democrat and Republican presidential and vice-presidential candidates, some possible future candidates, and some other noted figures.

⇒ Make sure that warmth of feeling is not equated with anger. In order to avoid such a mix-up, make sure that R understand that warm or favorable is the same as "liking" someone and cold means "disliking."

⇒ If R asks what capacity (NAME) is to be rated on (e.g., his personality? his performance in office?) we mean "In general..."

⇒ FTF ONLY: If R wants to select a degree level which is not pictured on the feeling thermometer in the Respondent Booklet (for example, 93 degrees) in order to indicate more accurately his/her feeling toward a person, by all means let him/her do so and record this response to the exact degree.

⇒ Any whole number from 0 to 100 is acceptable. Answers outside the 0 to 100 scale are not acceptable.

⇒ R may also want to pick a range such as "75 degrees - 100 degrees." No! No! Probe in such a case, "Which would you say is closer, 75 degrees or 100 degrees?" R will probably say 75 degrees, 100 degrees or maybe 85 degrees – all are acceptable. "97.5 degrees" or "97 and a half degrees" are not acceptable. Probe: "which is closer, 97 or 98 degrees?"

⇒ Please take time to be sure that R understands the mechanics of the feeling thermometer.

⇒ A probe has been supplied which you may use when the respondent is not able to rate a person. For instance, if R only says, "I don't know" -- this probe will help you determine which of the following two situations apply:

⇒ 1. Is R trying to tell you that s/he knows the person (recognizes the name), but doesn't know (can't decide) how to rate the person because s/he is unfamiliar with the ideas, stances, personality, of the political figures? This answer belongs in DON'T KNOW WHERE TO RATE: CAN'T JUDGE.

⇒ 2. Does R mean that the name just doesn't "ring a bell," that is, that s/he really doesn't know who the person is, in which case the answer should be logged R DOESN'T RECOGNIZE NAME.

⇒ FTF: This is the first time you will be asking the respondent to work with the Respondent Booklet. Hand R the booklet, and say something to the effect that "This is a booklet we'll be using for some of the questions throughout the questionnaire. It will help you keep in mind what the questions I am asking you are about." Some respondents keep on looking at the respondent booklet when it no longer applies. If this situation arises, please say something like, "We use the booklet only for some of the questions. I'll let you know the next time we will use it."

For any subsequent questions which require the use of the Respondent Booklet, prompt R at the beginning of the question, according to the text on the screen.

⇒ FTF: Use the Respondent Booklet! It is part of the question, and part of the uniform stimulus we want all respondents to receive. Asking a question without the designated Respondent Booklet page could alter the response choice the respondent makes.

⇒ In this study, we are using the feeling thermometer to accomplish two things 1.measure R's feelings toward important political figures 2 .establish whether respondents who didn't recall some or all of the congressional candidate names in A4a are now able to recognize the candidates when the names are read by you.

⇒ We are testing the proposition that recalling a name may be more difficult than recognizing one. Our perception of the level of information among American voters may vary depending upon whether we look at the proportion who are able to recall candidate names in contrast to the proportion who are able to recognize them. The data for this year, compared to that obtained in 1978, 1980, 1982, 1984, 1986, 1988, 1990, 1992, and 1994 will tell us whether House candidates are more or less visible in presidential election years than in congressional off-year elections.

Still using the thermometer, how would you rate:

⇒ After the candidates, we continue with the groups "feeling thermometer" series to measure how R feels about a number of important groups and institutions in society.

⇒ If R does not recognize a group, record the answer 998.

⇒ Please note the following problems that surfaced in over time. First, some R's say, "I don't have anything against GROUP X, give them 100." Remind R that 100 is for groups he/she very much likes; if all he/she can say is that he/she has nothing against them, maybe R's rating should be closer to 50. Second, be careful to distinguish, "I don't have any special feeling about them" (an answer to be recorded as 50) from "I don't know much about them" (which should be recorded in the DK answer box).

⇒ If you've worked on election studies before, you're familiar with this "proximity format" for determining where R stands on issues in relation to where he thinks political leaders and groups stand. We realize that these questions are demanding of both you and R; however, much valuable research information has already been derived from this technique.

⇒ Our first task for the respondent is to place himself/herself on the scale. Note that if R respondents with DK or HAVEN'T THOUGHT MUCH ABOUT THIS with regard to his/her own placement on the scale at G4, you do not probe, but go directly to G4aa, asking R, "If you had to choose..." If R still responds DK, the skip leads to where he/she would place the presidential candidates. We are interested in knowing whether respondents who have trouble figuring out where they stand may nevertheless have a good idea where other political figures stand.

⇒ If R placed himself/herself, then he/she is asked to place the presidential and congressional candidates and the Democrat and Republican parties.

⇒ It is important that R understands that he/she should place the groups and the political leaders on the scale in terms of where he/she thinks they stand now, NOT in terms of where he/she would like them to be.

⇒ Whenever such confusion becomes apparent to you, please try to get R to think in terms of where he/she thinks the leader or party position is now. (Needless to say, it is possible that R does think everyone is at 1 or 7, and that's a legitimate answer--just make sure that that is what you are getting before you go on.)

⇒ Definitely try to get R to specify his/her response in terms of a number on the scale. If R gives a range (e.g. 5-7), record this, but also ask R to give, if possible, a single number within that range. "Which would you say is closest to the way you feel?"

⇒ We do not want you to help R define the terms 'liberal' and 'conservative'. If R has too much trouble understanding the terms 'liberal' and 'conservative' to answer these questions, say something like, "it's alright if you haven't thought much about this. We can just go on to the next question."

G11 - SERVICES/SPENDING TRADEOFF

Note: for VT01/VA05, the independent incumbent candidate was included in place of Democratic (VT01) or Republican (VA05) candidate.

G11.

Please look at page 3 of the booklet.

Some people think the government should provide fewer services even in areas such as health and education in order to reduce spending. Suppose these people are at one end of a scale, at point 1. Other people feel it is important for the government to provide many more services even if it means an increase in spending. Suppose these people are at the other end, at point 7. And, of course, some other people have opinions somewhere in between, at points 2,3,4,5 or 6.

T G11.T

Some people think the government should provide fewer services, even in areas such as health and education in order to reduce spending. Still others feel it is important for the government to provide many more services even if it means an increase in spending.

⇒ G11 is a "proximity format" question for determining where R stands on issues in relation to where he/she thinks political leaders and groups stand. Again, we know these are hard, but we have learned a lot from them.

⇒ Our first task for the respondent is to place himself/herself on the scale. Note that R responds HAVEN'T THOUGHT MUCH ABOUT THIS only with regard to his/her own placement.

⇒ Definitely try to get R to specify his/her response in terms of a number on the scale. If R gives a range (e.g. 5-7), record this, but also ask R to give, if possible, a single number within that range. "Which would you say is closest to the way you feel?"

⇒ Read this question slowly and allow time for the respondent to digest the information. The question poses a complicated trade-off situation. It's not just a matter of whether government should provide more or fewer services, but whether the government should do one or the other in light of what happens to spending. Thus, people may feel that 7 is the preferred answer for the desired amount of government services, yet come down to settling for point 5 because they feel government spending must be curtailed.

There has been some discussion about abortion during recent years. I am going to read you a short list of opinions. Please tell me which one of the opinions best agrees with your view? You can just tell me the number of the opinion you choose.

- 1 BY LAW, ABORTION SHOULD NEVER BE PERMITTED.
- 2 THE LAW SHOULD PERMIT ABORTION ONLY IN CASE OF RAPE, INCEST, OR WHEN THE WOMAN'S LIFE IS IN DANGER.
- 3 THE LAW SHOULD PERMIT ABORTION FOR REASONS OTHER THAN RAPE, INCEST, OR DANGER TO THE WOMAN'S LIFE, BUT ONLY AFTER THE NEED FOR THE ABORTION HAS BEEN CLEARLY ESTABLISHED.
- 4 BY LAW, A WOMAN SHOULD ALWAYS BE ABLE TO OBTAIN AN ABORTION AS A MATTER OF PERSONAL CHOICE.
- 7 OTHER (SPECIFY) [VOL]

⇒ Give R plenty of time to think this one over. People usually have strong feelings on the subject, but it takes them a while to match their feelings with one of the response options.

⇒ If R says, "none of these agrees with my view," enter "OTHER, SPECIFY" (which we have put there for this very contingency) and PROBE for R's view. (Try not to let a digression develop -- a one sentence equivalent of the other alternatives is just fine.)

⇒ Here we are attempting to measure the respondent's party identification. By party identification we mean a person's feeling of attachment or belonging to a party. The question is intended to pin down the respondent's "usual" or customary general sense of party affiliation, not particularly how he/she voted in the election. This means that a response such as, "Oh, I have been a Democrat but I really don't know about this year" classifies the respondent as a Democrat, and not as "Neither." The people who are deviating from a usual party preference are identified by questions on vote choice. At this point, we want to know if they have a "usual" party. However, if R mentions any recent change in his feelings toward a party, be sure to enter that in a comment.

⇒ A few respondents may shy away from the question with responses such as, "I am an American." Such evasions should be probed further with something such as, "Well, a lot of us who feel that we are good Americans also think of ourselves as Democrats, Republicans, and so forth. Generally speaking, do you usually think of yourself...?"

⇒ We think economics is an extremely powerful factor in how people assess issues, candidates, and the government. These questions have to do with R's personal economics -- how things are going for R and R's family.

⇒ If R says they are "better off" in some respects and "worse off" in others, probe by asking, "Overall, would you say..." Remember, this series is about circumstances particular to the R and need not be linked to national economic trends and events. R's loss of a job, the sale of some property -- these are quite appropriate for R to be thinking about at this point. However, we do not need to have all of R's spoken mental calculations recorded. It's what he decides that is important, not how he got there (unless you have strong reason to believe that s/he has misunderstood the questions).

If the respondent really wants to know whether he/she is right, tell him/her you aren't supposed to discuss the questions during the interview, but you can discuss it with them at the end of the interview. If the answer is being phrased as a rhetorical "Isn't that...?" try to get away with a noncommittal "um-hum" as you record the response. The point is to avoid a test-like atmosphere, so if you can carry off a "you-and-me together" feeling with R, do it--e.g., putting a respondent at ease by saying, "I'm not sure about that one either", is O.K. with the study staff, although it may make your supervisors cringe.

Please turn to page 8 of the booklet.

Now I have some questions about different groups in our society.

I'm going to show you a seven-point scale on which the characteristics of the people in a group can be rated.

In the first statement a score of 1 means that you think almost all of the people in that group tend to be "hard-working." A score of 7 means that you think most people in the group are "lazy." A score of 4 means that you think that most people in the group are not closer to one end or the other, and of course, you may choose any number in between.
